

Anderson & Anderson Anger Management 2013 Los Angeles County Provider List

There are no state laws that regulate anger management. Neither the LA County Probation Department nor any other agency is involved in certifying anger management programs. The list of probation-approved batterers' intervention programs is solely for domestic violence perpetrators. Domestic violence programs are inappropriate for addressing issues of anger management in non-intimate relationships. Therefore, as a nationally recognized leader in providing interventions, resources, and provider certifications in anger management, Anderson & Anderson has compiled a list of programs currently using validated Pre & Post Tests as well as "Gaining Control of Ourselves", a widely recognized anger management workbook. We do not in any way guarantee the quality of the services provided by any of the businesses listed. A complimentary copy of this publication in English or Spanish will be provided upon request to any officer of the court. For additional information, please contact Anderson & Anderson.
